INTRODUCTION

The objects of this booklet are to simplify the intricate School Law of South Dakota; to lighten the work of County Superintendents by placing in the hands of School Officers and School Teachers a systematic interpretation of its numerous technicalities; to assist School Officers in the prompt and legal discharge of their duties; to keep School Teachers within the bounds of the law and make their relations to County Superintendents, School Officers, patrons and Children more harmonious, and to bring about in the easiest and cheapest possible way a system of uniform school administration.

CHAPTER I.

District School Officers.

Qualifications.—(1) No educational or property qualifications are required. (2) School Officers must be qualified electors (voters)—age 21 years; residence in South Dakota 6 months, in the county 30 days, in the school district 10 days. N. B.—People who have filed and settled on homesteads can vote at once. (3) Any woman possessing the above qualifications is eligible to any school office in this state.

Election.—(1) Time: All district school officers, except for township high schools and members of boards of education in incorporated towns, are elected on the third Tuesday in June. (2) Rotation: By a special legislative act all school officers in the state were legislated out of office in 1903, and provision was made for a general election of them in June of that year. The chairmen were elected for one, the clerks for two, and the treasurers for three years, respectively. Under this plan all chairmen had to be elected in 1904, the clerks are to be elected in 1905, and the treasurers in 1906. Chairmen will be elected again in 1907, clerks in 1908, treasurers in 1909, and so on in rotation. (Opinion of Attorney General, May 16, 1903.)

Oaths of Office.—(1) Form: Oaths of Office must conform to the Law and the Book of Forms. (2) When Taken: They must be taken within 30 days after election. (3) By Whom Administered: County Superintendents, school clerks, justices of the peace, township clerks, notaries public, or any other officers of the law possessed of seals, are empowered to administer these oaths. (4) Where Filed: All Oaths of Office, except those included in bonds, must be filed with the County Superintendent.

Terms of Office.—(1) The terms of all district school officers, except for township high schools, are three years. (2) Officers who are appointed hold office till the next regular school election, at which time the electors of the district shall elect an officer who shall fill out the unexpired portion of the official term, so as to keep the rotation of all chairmen, clerks and treasurers uniform.

CHAPTER II.

District School Board.

Members.—The members of a district school board are chairman, clerk and treasurer.

Chairman.—(1) Qualifications: Gives no bond; simply files his oath of office with the county superintendent as required by law. (2) Duties: Presides over all meetings of the board; countersigns all warrants drawn upon the funds of the district (and in case he refuses, he can be compelled to by securing a writ of mandamus); acts as judge of school elections; attends the annual meeting of all district school officers convened by order of the county superintendent; and is held responsible for the enforcement of the compulsory educational law. (3) Salary: He receives $1.50 for each regular meeting of the board attended by him, and $1.50 for attending the annual school officers' meeting, but is not entitled to any pay for presiding over special meetings of the board or for acting as judge of election. (Opinion of Attorney General, July 22, 1903). It will thus be seen that the maximum amount which a chairman can legally receive as salary during any one school year is $4.50, from all sources, $6.00.

Clerk.—(1) Qualifications: (a) The clerk must give a bond, signed by two sureties and properly attested, in the sum of $100. It must be approved by the chairman and treasurer, or if they neglect or refuse to approve it, it may be done by the county superintendent, and be filed with the county auditor. (See sections 2335, 2339, 2368). (b) In addition to the oath contained in the bond, he must subscribe to a separate oath which must be filed with the county superintendent. (See sections 2307, 2335, 2368, 2379, Special Act 1905). (c) Whenever a school clerk is re-elected he must give a new bond and oath. (2) Duties: Keeps a record of all meetings of the board; acts as clerk of school elections; issues warrants for all bills allowed by the board; takes the school census (See sections 2318, 2334), posts all notices concerning either regular or special meetings or elections; attends the annual meeting of school officers convened by order of the county superintendent; in case a vacancy occurs on the board by reason of resignation, removal from the district, death, or other incapacity, he reports it to the county superintendent; "shall act as librarian of his district," and shall lend the school library books "to the teachers, pupils and other residents of the district * * * and shall include in his annual report such library statistics as the state superintendent may require;" on or before the 20th day of July notifies "the county auditor of the amount of tax voted at the last annual meeting, or levied by the district board" (See sections 2341, par. 5, 2344); keeps a record of the receipts and expenditures of the district; and makes an annual report to the county superintendent on or before the first day of August each year (See sections 2318, 2320, 2340, par. 4; 2343, 2349, 2367, 2382). (3) Salary: He receives as salary $5.00 for each school in the district which was in session "at least three months the preceding school year," but is limited to $25.00 per annum. He also receives $1.50 for attending the annual school officers' meeting convened by order of the county superintendent, making the maximum amount which he can receive within a year in districts having five or more schools, $26.50; in districts having but one school, $6.50.

Treasurer.— (1) Qualifications: (a) The treasurer must give a bond signed by two sureties, and properly attested, for the faithful performance of his duties. The amount of it is fixed by the chairman and clerk. It must be "not less than double the sum, as nearly as can be ascertained, to come into his hands in any one year." It must be approved by the chairman and clerk, or if they refuse or neglect it, by the county superintendent, and be filed with the county auditor (See sections 2335, 2339, 2368). (b) In addition to the oath contained in the bond he must subscribe to a separate oath to be filed with the county superintendent (See sections 2307, 2339, 2368, 2379). (c) In case of re-election he must give a new bond and oath. (2) Duties: Keeps a record of all moneys received and expended; pays out money only upon warrants issued by the clerk, properly authorized by the board; registers all warrants drawn upon the treasury for which there is no money on hand to pay; draws the school apportionment money due his district at least twice each year, and the money accumulating from the district school tax "at least once every three months in each year;" makes an annual report to the board and the county superintendent, on or before the first day of August each year, of the receipts and expenditures for the previous school year (See sections 2319, 2320, 2340, par. 4; 2343, 2349, 2367, 2382); and attends the annual meetings of the district school officers convened by order of the county superintendent. (3) Salary: He receives the same pay as the clerk,—$5.00 for each school in the district which was in session at least three months the previous year, being limited to $25.00 per annum, and $1.50 for attending the annual district school officers' meeting convened by the county superintendent.

Meetings of Board.—Second Tuesday in July, last Tuesday in November and March. By serving a written notice upon the two other members, the clerk may call a special meeting at any time.

Powers and Duties of Board.—(1) Over School Sites: The board may purchase or lease any school site not exceeding two acres selected by the voters of the district at any regular, or regularly called special meeting; may take the land so selected against the will of the owner, by appealing to the county superintendent to have it condemned; may select a site "on common school or endowment lands" and secure title to the same by having it appraised by the Board of School and Public Lands * * * * * conditioned that should the same cease to be used for two successive years for the purpose of maintaining a public school thereon, that the title shall revert to the owner of the legal sub-division of which said site forms a part.” (2) Over School Property: The board shall have “the care, custody and control of all property * * * * * shall make all necessary repairs to the school houses, outbuildings and appurtenances * * * * * direct the removal of a school house to a more convenient location, upon a vote of a majority of the electors of the entire district (a two-thirds majority vote is required in a district having but one school) * * * * * shall build, hire or purchase such school house * * * * * (or) make sale of any school house or property of the district, when lawfully directed by the voters of such district. By a Special Act, approved Jan. 31, 1905, the board must plant trees around all school premises. (3) Over School Teachers: The board shall employ teachers “only upon the exhibition of a teacher’s certificate, valid in the county where employed, and then only upon a written contract signed by the teacher and at least (any) two members of the district school board.” After making a contract with a teacher, the board cannot break it except for one or all of the three following reasons, any one of which would have to be proven in court provided a teacher refused to abide by the opinion of the board: (a) "plain violation of contract", (b) "gross immorality," (c) "flagrant neglect of duty." (4) Over Schools in Session: "The district board shall have general charge, direction and management of the school or schools of the district * * * * * assist and co-operate with the teacher in the government and discipline of the schools, and may make proper rules and regulations therefor." The board has authority to suspend pupils who are "habitually disobedient," or those who defy the teacher's authority over them, for not less "than ten days nor beyond the end of the current term of school;" must "furnish, equip and supply all the schools in the district according to the several necessities of said schools * * * * * provide for each school in the district one Webster's Dictionary * * * * * and may also provide * * * other high grade library books and books of reference * * * provided said expense shall not exceed ten dollars for any school in any one year," and "shall provide suitable cases for the books in each school." (5) Powers in General: (a) Organization—"They shall organize, maintain, and conveniently locate schools for the education of all children of school age within the district." Whenever petitioned by the parents or guardians of seven children of legal school age (6 to 20 years inclusive), all of whom reside within three miles of a school house or a house or room proposed to be used as such, "the board shall organize a school and employ a teacher therefor," (b) Transportation—The board must arrange to educate all children of school age within the district; and where (pupils reside at an unreasonable distance the county superintendent, under the law, being made the judge of each case as to "what shall constitute an unreasonable distance") from the place where school is held, they "shall make reasonable financial provision for the transportation of such pupils" or send them "to some other school in the district" or provide "for their tuition in some other district, and for their transportation thereto * * * and shall establish routes of travel." (c) Outside Pupils—They shall "admit to the schools of the district, pupils from other districts when it can be done without injuring or overcrowding such schools, and make regulations for their admission and the payment of their tuition therein." (d) Assignment of Pupils—When a school district contains more than one school, the board shall "at the annual July meeting, each year, make the assignment and distribution of pupils to and among the schools in the district," taking "into consideration the wishes of the patrons and the best interests of the pupils and district." (e) Consolidation—Whenever the board deems it advisable they may combine "two or more schools into one" and arrange "for the transportation of the pupils." (f) Discontinuation—When a school has been discontinued by the board for the purpose of combining two or more, the patrons of the district in which the school was closed "may appeal to the county superintendent" to overrule the action of the board, by filing with him a petition "signed by at least one-third of the patrons belonging to said school. The superintendent shall then send out notices to the patrons and the board and "order a hearing" on said petition. After hearing both sides of the case, he shall then decide for or against the petition, "which decision shall be heeded by the district school board." (g) Contagious Disease—The board has no legal authority to close a school on account of contagious disease. This authority is vested in the county superintendent by section 2301, and in the board of health by general statute. On this point the law is defective. This deficiency has given rise to a practice which has now become quite general and which is certainly justified by the moral law: When a board discovers contagion in their school they proceed to close it temporarily, and send immediate notice to the county superintendent. This illegal but righteous practice should be resorted to only in cases of extreme necessity. (h) School Tax—The board “shall have power to levy upon the property of the district a tax for school purposes of not exceeding twenty-five mills (two and one-half cents) on the dollar in a year.” (It was raised to this amount from two cents, by a Special Legislative Act March 12, 1903). This levy shall be made “at the annual school meeting in July of each year.” Section 2343 provides that “the electors may meet with the board” on the second Tuesday in July and designate “the amount of tax levy.” A Special Legislative Act, approved March 12, 1903, provides that “In every district having but one school” the patrons “shall at any regularly called meeting, have authority to instruct the district school board concerning the levy of school taxes.” This same act provides that in any district co-extensive with a congressional township, "The school board * * * shall have power to levy * * * a tax for school purposes of all kinds;" but it extends the time limit in which this must be done "to the fifteenth day of August." Regardless of this extension of time it still leaves it advisory to attend to the matter of tax levy at the regular July meeting. (i) Judgment Tax—The law expressly provides "every school district * * * shall be and hereby is constituted a district corporation * * * and under its own proper name * * * may sue and be sued." It provides further: "Whenever any final judgment shall be obtained against any school corporation, the board thereof shall levy a tax upon the taxable property in the corporation for the payment thereof. * * * If the school board refuse or fail to levy such tax" the law will not permit the holder of the judgment to execute the same but permits the matter to pass into the hands of the board of county commissioners who shall cause such tax to be levied upon the property of the district." If the judgment is so large that the county commissioners cannot levy enough to meet it in one year without going beyond the 25 mill levy fixed by Special Act heretofore referred to, "such levy may be repeated until the judgment is paid." (j) Bond Tax—The board is authorized to levy a sufficient tax to pay the interest on outstanding bonds, and to pay them off as they become due. In case they neglect or refuse to do this, the law empowers the county auditor to levy the tax. (k) Free Text Books—Whenever petitioned to do so by a majority of the patrons, the board must arrange to supply all the pupils in the district with free text books. The establishment of rules and regulations for the preservation of free books is left to the board. (l) Book Case—When free books have been furnished the law makes it mandatory upon the board "to procure a safe book case in which said books shall be kept." The special act of 1901, which established libraries for general reading in all the schools, demands that "The school board shall provide suitable cases for the books in each school." Under the reading of these two statutes, it is plainly evident that no legal grounds exist to justify a school board in not supplying each school with a good serviceable book case. (m) Contracts—The law expressly provides that the board must not enter into a contract of any kind, except "for the employment of teachers" unless it be done "at a regular meeting or a regularly called special meeting." (n) Allowance of Bills—The law expressly forbids the clerk to draw a warrant upon the funds of the district unless so authorized by the board. It also forbids the clerk to draw a warrant "except upon the presentation of a bill for the service * * * duly certified." This applies also to teachers' salaries. (Opinion of Attorney General February 11, 1904.) It further forbids the board to allow any bill unless the services were rendered or the indebtedness otherwise incurred prior to the time of allowing said bill. (o) Prosecutions—All prosecutions against persons for defacing school property or for violating the compulsory educational law, shall be instituted in the name of the district by the chairman; likewise in litigations against the district by creditors, the papers must be served on the chairman—he being the legal head of the board.

N. B.—A few duties of minor importance have been omitted, it being the author's aim to classify and explain the more technical ones.

Parliamentary.—(1) The board holds three regular meetings each year. (2)

Special meetings may be called at any time by the clerk who shall give written notice to the two other members. (3) Two members constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. (4) If the chairman is absent one of the other members acts. (5) If the clerk is absent, the chair appoints. (6) A motion does not need to be seconded, after being made, before being put by the chair.

(7) Order of Business:

- (a) Roll Call.
- (b) Reading and approval or correction of minutes of previous meeting.
- (c) Unfinished Business—reports of committees, of officers, etc.
- (d) New Business—allowance of bills; consideration of communications and petitions; appointment of committees, etc.
- (e) Adjournment.

CHAPTER III.

School Bonds.

Issuance of Bonds.—The law touching upon the issuance of bonds is so confusing that it is deemed advisable to reduce the whole process to a graduated outline. Boards will have little bother by adhering closely to the following guide: (1) Amount: First see that proper title has been secured to the school site; then go to the county superintendent and specify to him the size of the building desired to be built, and talk over with him the equipment. Then have some reliable lumberman or contractor make a definite estimate of the cost of the building complete. Add to this the cost of the site, if it is to be included in the bond issue; of school desks, recitation benches, blackboard, stove, window shades, and teacher's desk; also the cost of a bell if one is to be supplied. You will then have a practical idea of the amount of bonds necessary to be issued. (2) Limitation: The amount of bonds which a district can issue is limited to $1,000, "except in towns and villages of more than 300 inhabitants." In these it is limited to 4% of the assessed valuation. By a Special Act, approved Feb. 28, 1905, where two or more schools are consolidated, the limitation is fixed at $3,000. (3) Petition: Secure a blank petition for bond election from the county superintendent. Fill out the heading carefully, inserting the amount of the bonds proposed to be issued. Then circulate it over the district and secure the signatures of at least "one-third of the voters resident in said school district," including all of the women over 21 years of age. File this petition with the clerk of the board. (4) Special Meeting: The clerk must then call a special meeting of the board to determine the legality of the petition. (5) Notice of Election: If the board approves the petition they pass a resolution authorizing the clerk to issue a call for a special bond election. The clerk then posts notices of election in "at least three public and conspicuous places in said district * * * not less than twenty days before the meeting." The clerk should make four copies of these notices, reserving one to be filed with the county auditor. These notices, to be legal, must specify three separate and distinct things: (a) Time and place of election, (b) Amount of proposed bonds, (c) "The time in which they shall be made payable." In this connection it must be remembered that not over 15 per cent. of the bonds issued can legally fall due in any one year. (6) Election: The election is conducted on the day set in a manner similar to all school elections,—the clerk of the board acting as clerk of election and the chairman of the board as judge. (7) Records Filed: The law expressly provides that the records of election shall be filed with the county auditor. These certified records must consist of the following: (a) The petition, (b) Copy of the resolution of the board ordering the election, (c) Copy of the notices of election, (d) All the ballots cast, (e) The poll book. (8) Sale: If the election is carried the district school treasurer shall then negotiate with either some local citizen, the board, some neighboring bank, some regular bond company, or with the county auditor for the sale of the bonds. (9) Denomination: They must be issued in one of the following denominations: $50., $100., $150., or $200. (10) Interest: They shall not draw interest to exceed 7 per cent. per annum. The interest must be paid annually or semi-annually as specified on the face of the bonds. (11) Quality of Paper: All school bonds "shall be lithographed or printed on good bond paper.”

(12) Form: They must specify on their faces, (a) Date, (b) Amount. (c) To whom issued, (d) Purpose, (e) Rate of interest. (13) Certification: They must be certified to by the county auditor (Section 2387). (14) Signatures: In addition to the county auditor’s certification they shall be signed by the chairman and clerk of the school board. (15) Numbered: They shall be numbered in numerical order and shall become due in the order in which so numbered. (16) Registry: The school clerk must then register them in a book expressly provided for that purpose. (17) Tax Levy: Bond Tax—The board is authorized to levy a sufficient tax to pay the interest on outstanding bonds, and to pay them off as they become due. In case they neglect or refuse to do this, the law empowers the county auditor to levy the tax. Consult Section 2388 Revised Code. (18) Payment: Whenever a bond has been paid by the treasurer, the board shall cause to be written in red ink across the face of said bond and its accompanying coupon, the words “Cancelled and paid.” (19) Record of Payment: The clerk shall enter in his bond book, (a) The number of such bond, (b) The date of such payment, (c) The amount paid. (20) Filing of Cancelled Bonds: All bonds, as fast as they are paid, must be filed with the district treasurer. (21) Destruction: All cancelled bonds, after being filed with the district treasurer, must be carefully preserved by him until the last one outstanding has been paid. They must then ALL be destroyed in the presence of the entire board. The clerk should (although not compelled to by law) make a record of the date of this destruction in his bond book. There are legal reasons to justify this suggestion.

CHAPTER IV.

Sub-dividing Districts.

Complete Process.—(1) Time: Petition must be attended to before the 15 day of February so as to file it with the clerk at least 20 days prior to the election which occurs on the second Tuesday in March. (2) Plat: A safe scheme is to go to the county superintendent with a rough map indicating the proposed divisions, and let him prepare FOUR copies of a neat plat definitely setting forth the boundary lines of the new sub-divisions. (3) Petition: Secure a blank petition praying for sub-division, from the county superintendent. Attach firmly to it a copy of the new plat. Circulate it freely over the district. If signed by at least one-third of the qualified electors of the district (women included) file it with the district school clerk at least 20 days prior to the second Tuesday in March. (4) Special Meeting: Although not compelled to by law, it is best for the clerk to call a special meeting of the board at once, by serving a written notice upon each of the two other members, to pass upon the legality of the petition. If they approve it the board should pass a resolution ordering the clerk to call a special election. If this step were omitted it might not invalidate the process, yet it is the wisest way to handle it. The number of signers to the petition might be comparatively limited. In this case, if the clerk acted on his notion, the whole thing might be thrown out in court, after the election, on the insufficiency of the petition. The law contemplates this meeting—Sec. 2324, par. 1. (5) Notices of Election: Notices of a Special Election must be posted in three public and conspicuous places in the district by the clerk at least ten days prior to the time set for the election. These notices of election must set forth three things, (a) Time and date of election, (b) Place, (c)

Copy of new plat. On the day of election the clerk must post a copy of the new plat at the polling place. (6) Place of Election: The law compels the board, either at a regular or special meeting, to designate the place at which the election shall be held. (This justifies the argument for a special meeting, suggested under paragraph "4.") (7) Election: The election is held at the time and place set, in a manner similar to all school elections. (8) Majority Vote: If a majority of the votes cast are in favor of the petition, the election is carried, even though those cast "for" and "against" the petition do not equal the number of signatures attached to it. Frequently, after voters have signed the petition they lose interest in it and do not attend the election. To illustrate: If only One vote were cast in favor of the petition and none against it, it would be carried. (9) Election Returns: The clerk must file the original petition and the poll book with the county auditor. The election will be illegal unless this be done. (10) Action of Commissioners and Superintendents: The county commissioners at their regular meeting in April following the election, in joint session with the county superintendent, shall canvass the petition and the poll book. If satisfied that all has been done legally they proceed to sub-divide the district into new districts as set forth in the plat attached to the petition. At this meeting they name the new districts; and in counties where the numbering process is in vogue, they give each its respective number.

In order to facilitate matters the commissioners should, at this meeting, appoint a committee consisting of the county superintendent and at least two members of their own body, to visit all the schools in the district before their regular July meeting, and appraise the value of each schoolhouse and site, also the furniture, apparatus and fixtures.

(11) Appointment of Officers: Section 2330 provides: "Whenever a school district shall be formed, the county superintendent of schools shall appoint temporary officers for such school district, who shall serve until the first annual school election following and until their successors are elected and qualified."

(12) Duties of New Officers: (a) Clerk—The new clerk must take the census as required by law. He must also post the notices for the regular June election, and act as clerk of the same. He may also find it expedient to call one or more special meetings of the new board. (b) Chairman—The chairman will have nothing to do until the June election, unless a special meeting of the board should be called. (c) Treasurer—The treasurer will have nothing to do, unless a special meeting be called, for no funds fall into his hands until after the county commissioners and the county superintendent have apportioned the funds of the old district among the new ones at their joint meeting in July. (13) Duties of Old Officers: (a) Special Meeting—The clerk should call a special meeting of the old board on or before the first Monday in July. At this time the accounts of the district should be gone over carefully; and if bills have been filed, and there is sufficient cash on hand, warrants should be issued for all outstanding indebtedness, other than school bonds. Here Common sense must step in and supply the deficiency in the law. This is the most opportune time for the old clerk and treasurer to make out and submit to the board for adoption and to the county superintendent for his approval, their annual reports, thus giving the superintendent a chance to check up their accounts and approve the same before the money is turned over to the county treasurer for distribution among the new districts; besides making it possible for the old clerk and treasurer under Section 2340, Par. 4, to secure their annual salaries before the funds are divided, thus saving an endless chain of bother. This meeting, if possible, should be held in the office of the county superintendent where access to the county records can readily be had, as many things will come up for final adjustment. (b) Clerk—The law provides that the clerk “shall, on or before the first Monday in July following the division * * * forward to the county auditor a certified statement of the finances of the district, including the bonded and other indebtedness” (c) Treasurer—“On or before the first Monday in July,” the treasurer must “turn over to the county treasurer all money belonging to said district.” (14) Apportionment of Cash and School Property: At their regular July meeting, which, according to law, comes on the next day after the funds have been turned over to the county treasurer, the county commissioners and county superintendent, acting in conjunction, must apportion the cash and property of the old school district, equitably among the new ones. The following illustration will prove a helpful guide: If the old district had in it four schools, number 1, 2, 3, and 4, respectively; and the appraisement committee, heretofore suggested, should fix the total valuation of No. 1 at $325., of No. 2 at $380., of No. 3 at $344., and of No. 4 at $361., and there were still $210. in cash to be apportioned, it would have to be divided so that each new district would receive its equitable share of both the cash and the property. To do this, add together the values of the four schools and the cash. In this case it would total $1620. Dividing it equally among the four districts, each should receive cash and property valued at $405. By subtracting from this sum the appraisement of each school, it will be found how much cash each district is entitled to receive. For instance No. 1 would receive $405. less $325. or $80. in cash; No. 2 would receive $25.; No. 3, $61.; No. 4, $44. (15) Apportionment of Indebtedness: The indebtedness of the old district divides itself naturally into two classes; namely, Local Debts, or those arising from current expenses, and Bonded Debts, or those arising from outstanding bonds. The old board should make an effort to have bills filed for all local debts, and at their last special meeting, if there is sufficient cash on hand, they should issue warrants for all of them, leaving nothing but the bonded indebtedness which, under Sec. 2323, Par. 2, will be disposed of by the county commissioners. If there are more local debts than there is cash to meet, they too will have to be apportioned among the new districts by the commissioners and the county superintendent,—the latter not sitting with the commissioners while the bonded indebtedness is being disposed of. It is never wise for a district to sub-divide until its old school bonds are paid off. (16) Records: The law is silent as to what shall be done with the old records. However, they should be filed with the county superintendent for further reference by him in assisting the officers of the new districts to get started in their perplexing work. (17) Turning Over The Cash: As soon as the new treasurers, elected at the June election, have filed their oaths and bonds as required by law, the county superintendent should notify the county auditor to issue warrants on the county treasurer in favor of each of the new district school treasurers for the funds on hand due their respective districts. The new school districts are now firmly launched; each is a body corporate, and they are ready for the transaction of business.

CHAPTER V.

Township High Schools.

The Special Act, approved March 9, 1903, providing for the establishment of township high schools, is so simply worded, so easily understood, so complete within itself, so free from any opinions or amendments, and so little heeded at the present time,—that it is deemed inadvisable to now classify and explain its many features.

(7) Constant Qualifications: While teaching, a teacher must at all times be possessed of a valid certificate. (Amended laws of 1905).

Duties.—Upon beginning a term of school, teachers must send a notice of such beginning, and the probable time when the term will end, to the county superintendent. They may read aloud to pupils, books on moral instruction. They must classify the work of their schools according to the state course of study which, under the law, is indirectly made a part of it (Sec. 2353, Par. 5), and at the end of the first week of school, send a classification report to the county superintendent. They must keep a register giving in detail the work of the school. They must admit pupils from outside districts upon order of the board; hold monthly examinations, and "make monthly reports to parents and to the county superintendent, when blanks for the same are furnished"; during school must act as librarian for the district; must teach five and one-half hours each day, exclusive of intermissions; shall not hold school on May 30, July 4, Thanksgiving Day, or December 25; must dismiss school during the session of the county normal institute; at the close of each term make a terminal report in duplicate, filing one copy with the district clerk and the other with the county superintendent; must attend the normal institute and at least one district institute (should attend ALL teachers' meetings) each year; and should co-operate with the county superintendent in all his undertakings for the up-building of the schools.

Salaries.—Teachers' salaries are fixed by the board. They are usually too low, making the profession an act of charity. Under an opinion of the attorney general, dated September 16, 1904, the board must withhold ten per cent of a teacher's salary for EACH month taught, until the close of the term, as a guaranty of faith that they will complete their contracts, and make all reports as required by law. Under another opinion of the attorney general, dated February 11, 1904, teachers must file with the school clerk a bill for each month's salary, after which they will be entitled to receive ninety per cent. of such salary.
